

Reasons to Purchase Instrument Forms *Plus Pro

1. Improves the quality of data management.

Megaflex software joins the power and ease of a database with the standardization of the internationally-recognized ISA format, giving you the information you need in the format you want on demand.

2. Increases efficiency for document control.

Retrieving documents efficiently is a key component of a robust documenting database management system. Megaflex software makes it easy for you to maintain data electronically for easy entry, retrieval and reporting. Our ISA-licensed forms eliminate double-data entry and conform information to a standardized format.

3. Reduces costs for engineering and maintenance.

Megaflex software can potentially lower costs for engineering and maintenance by reducing the man-hours required to electronically document and retrieve data. Our software helps free your employees to the focus on work at hand rather than sifting through paperwork.

4. Return on investment.

Investing in Megaflex's document management system provides a long-term benefit for your organization. By standardizing data collection and operating procedures, an organization can grow and prosper by managing one standard methodology for document control. Compared to potential costly errors or redundant maintenance due to lack of document control, Megaflex software is a great investment.

5. Easy to use.

Designed with the user in mind, our displays include features such as type-ahead, data drop down lists, lookup tables, PDF outputs, and links to drawings and documents for easy retrieval. Our customization features capture the standard terms used by your company and enables quick data entry and reporting. Employees of all level of experience have find our program simple to learn and easy to use.

6. Megaflex provides a service to jump start data conversion and use.

In order for any database system to benefit a company, it must actually be used by the engineering and/or maintenance groups within the company. The best way to get the various groups up to speed and active in its use is via customized on-site training. Also, jumpstart your data entry by taking advantage of our existing data conversion services.
